JIM GARDNER FAILS TO PRODUC THE CHILD.

Yesterday morning the District Court room was again crowded to see what disposition would be made in the Gardner divorce case. Mr. Judge, attorney for Mr. Gardner, read another affidavit to the effect that Mr. Gardner had written and telegraphed to various parts of California, and tried to find out where his father had taken the child, but had received no information on the subject. Did not know where the child was, and could not produce it. Mr. Woodburn then put him on the stand and subjected him to a long cross examination, to which he received the usual evasive replies. It was developed that the child was taken away with the father's consent. but he had no idea where it went. His brother had driven Major Gardner and the child to Reno in a buggy, and he had taken the evening train to California

Mr, Woodburn then asked that he be committed to jail for contempt. The Judge remarked:

"I am satisfied beyond any question that the defendant has ordered the child to be removed from the jurisdiction of the court, with the intent of defeating any order the court might make in disposing of the case. The court is also satisfied that his testimony relative to the matter is a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end, I am not as yet fully satisfied that finding a decree in the case. I can commit the defendant to jail, as I have been too busy to fully consult the authorities."

The attorneys in the court were asked if they knew of any decisions covering the peculiarities of the case. A resolution was introduced by Francis ex- None of them ever did, but Mr. Coffin rose and stated that he thought he had information in the case that no one else had, and this was that Major Gardner had stated to him that he intended to take the child away to avoid having some one killed.

A broad smile passed over the audience when this statement was made, and the court announced that his decision would be witheld until he could investigate the legal status of the con-
